"Boiled alligator flesh," says the Baltimore American, "tastes very much like veal." Do you remember how veal tastes?

He calm. The stranger is not a bill collector nor a messenger to tell you that you have inherited a fortune. He is the census taker.

It does not require any special intelligence to stand up and be counted but this use of a little horse sense by everybody will help out the census takers.

An English judge decides that a theatrical manager has a right to select a woman with a big hat if she will not take it off. Maybe the court has not behind one.

GETTING MAD.

It very often happens that a person will get mad in arguing a matter or when some one differs with him. One commits a great mistake when he acts thus. He weakens himself and strengthens his adversary. Anger diminishes the force of an argument. As soon as one gets mad in arguing a point, he should stop talking or change his temper. Anger stands in the way of truth. It contradicts one's view. It spoils knowledge. Real wisdom, according to the Scriptures, is "first pure, and then peaceable, gentle and easy to be entreated." There is no room for anger in wisdom, and certainly, when a man is engaged in differing with his neighbor, it is best to be wise. Men sometimes can't bear to be disputed. As soon as one differs, they summon up their ire, shake their fists, and rush down on a man like a clatter of iron. It does no good. It confirms the adversary in his view and the rancor reveals upon those who indulge in it. Observe when you have had an argument with a man, and get mad, how afterward you regret it. How really it seemed a little devil had intruded itself upon your talk and left its tracks in your heart! And then, what a lack of pleasure there is in getting mad! The only argument that is pleasant and effective is that which is pure, peaceable and gentle.

GRINDING IN THE MAKING.

Harvard has a professor by the name of Baker who thinks that it would be a good thing for colleges to teach students how to write. We do not know that Professor Baker has ever written any plays himself, but that is no reason why he could not teach other people to do so. In fact very often those who do not know how to do a thing themselves are very apt in teaching others how to do it. The professor is always certain he can teach a better course than his students, and we have yet to discover the man who does not know more about how to conduct a newspaper than any journalist now in harness. It may be said that plays like poetry, are the product of genius, and it follows that if we can teach writing men how to write a play, we can create our geniuses. What an inference that would be! There are dozens of school-children capable how to write short stories, that he, their teacher, knows a good deal more, and some of the aged men do write stories when they think the matter just as they had written stories before they had had him to do so. It is true that there is a remarkable number of these short stories. It may be said that the numbers magazine is not worth so much as to be in order and follow rules of style as if it were a house and not a tale that was being told.

Was gone perhaps ten or fifteen minutes when he joined them again and at about 8:30 they started from Fernald's Drug Store to go over to the foot bridge he decided to come back onto the island. A little later he met Bert Powers and was with him until he went home. Said he wore a gray suit and light cap. Acknowledged he told the officers he wore a dark suit and rubber boots, and that he had drunk so much he did not know what he was doing and did not know what he did that night. Said he was so frightened when they asked him the questions that he did not know what to tell them. Witness had no watch and the time was a matter of judgment.

Dennis Ayotte testified to seeing Peter near the gate in the park Sunday night. Thought it was about 8:15. Peter left while the rest were talking. Did not know where he went or what time it was when he left.

Lewie Cayer testified that Ayotte was with him and LaPlante during the evening.

A STEADY DRAIN.

Sick Kidneys Weaken the Whole Body—Make You Ill, Languid and Depressed.

Sick kidneys weaken the body through the continual drainage of life-giving albumen from the blood into the urine, and the substitution of poisonous uric acid that goes broadcast through the system, poisoning the whole of it. Loss of albumen causes weakness, languor, depression. Urinary poisoning causes rheumatic pain, nervousness, nausea, cricks in the back, gravel and kidney stones. The proper treatment is a kidney treatment, and the best remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills. Great Remedial Pills for all kidney troubles.

R. O. Ames, Congress St., Rumford Falls, Me., says: "For several months I was annoyed by night disorders of my kidneys, but since using Doan's Kidney Pills, I have been feeling much better. I willingly give this remedy my endorsement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 25c each. Peter Mithun Co., Bethel, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

HALL & YOUNG,

Bethel, Maine.

evening. Thought they first met him about ten minutes of eight. They had some popcorn and were together except for the time Peter went for the cigarettes. Might have been gone ten or fifteen minutes. Thought it was about 8:30 when Peter left them on the footbridge to come back to the island. Did not see him after that.

Lewie LaPlante testified to meeting Ayotte a little before eight o'clock Sunday evening. Had some popcorn together. Ayotte then left them to go after some cigarettes. Thought it was about 8:35 when he left them. It was about 8:40 before they saw him again. When he joined them again he told LaPlante he had been home after a half dollar he left in his other suit of clothes. Was afraid his brother might find it and take it. LaPlante said he looked at his watch when they left Fernald's store to go over the footbridge and it was then 8:30. Said Ayotte left them on the footbridge and they did not see him again. Went out on cross examination that Ayotte was not with them when they bought popcorn the second time about 8:20.

Bert Powers testified that he thought it was about twenty minutes of nine that he met Ayotte and was with him the remainder of the evening and went home with him.

Fred Lord testified to selling Ayotte popcorn at about 8 o'clock but on cross examination stated that there were only two boys present when he sold them corn the second time.

Ayotte again took the stand that the reason he told LaPlante the story about the half dollar was that some of his friends had treated him and he did not want LaPlante and Cayer to know it as his friend did not wish to treat him. On cross examination the witness gave considerable evidence over this part of the testimony.

Deputy Elliott then testified for the State that he questioned Ayotte before arresting and he said he had on a dark suit and rubber boots Sunday night and that he had drunk so much he did not know what he did during the evening. Chief of Police was present and heard Ayotte make these statements to Elliott.

Conjunction was then taken until two o'clock and when the hearing was resumed Attorney McCarty presented his argument for the defense. He showed how the evidence for the State by all the witnesses placed the time of assault at 8:30 or later. And that the defense had proved that at that time his client was with two of his friends in the vicinity of the footbridge. That it was dark rainy night and the lights in the Virginia section were all the small incandescents also that the State's witnesses who identified the respondent were carrying umbrellas and all things considered to identify a person under those conditions would be extremely difficult. That according to one witness Ayotte was not absent from them more than ten or fifteen minutes and the other witness stated that the time was not more than twenty five minutes and that no sane man would claim that a man could travel that distance and commit an assault like the one described and return in that short time. Also the witnesses testified that Ayotte was not excited when he returned and showed no signs that he had been running. That he went after cigarettes and when he returned he had the cigarettes. He did not think the State had furnished sufficient evidence to hold the respondent and moved that he be discharged. McCarty's argument was eloquent and much more forcible than many believed possible under the conditions.

Judge Stearns in reviewing the evidence stated that to prove an alibi as the defense had attempted to do, it was necessary to account for all the time. To show where the respondent was at all times Sunday evening the defense had been unable to do and then they had failed in their attempt to establish a complete alibi. In matters of time, there must be made a considerable allowance for the judgments of the different witnesses. Even had witness been freely consulted a difference of five or ten minutes might very easily occur. The State had produced two witnesses that had known the identity of the respondent and one other who had been very positive about the matter although he did not care to take an oath as there is always some slight chance of being mistaken in such matters. Did not think very much time was required for the respondent to follow Miss Tribes up the hill, commit the assault and return. It would require but a very few minutes for one to get from the place where the assault was committed to the island as it was all down hill. He considered there was ample evidence to hold the respondent for a jury trial and should place the bond at $1,000.

Ayotte was unable to secure bond and was taken to Paris jail Thursday morning by Deputy Elliott.

Barber at the Universalist church she has served as soprano soloist in the choir, and her singing has given much pleasure to the congregation. In musical events she will be greatly missed as she has always been very generous in assisting in the various musical affairs of the town.

Harry Arronson was acquitted on a $5000 charge at a hearing held Tuesday. The arrest was caused by the officers finding two parts of whiskey under the back steps that led into his tailor shop. The defense used several witnesses who testified that they were in Arronson's shop frequently and never saw any signs of liquor there. Evidence was also given to show that another company that is engaged in tailoring had made considerable talk about Arronson and that he would not stay in business here very long. Officer Niles admitted an error in examination that he had been notified by letter to keep an eye on Arronson's place. There was no sufficient evidence to prove that the liquor was the property of Arronson and he was discharged.

FAREWELL PARTY FOR ARTHUR KENDALL

Misses Marie and Lucille Bartlett entertained in a very pleasing manner Thursday evening at the home of their parents Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Bartlett. The party was given as a farewell reception to Arthur Kendall, who with his mother is soon to leave for their new home in Washington, D. C. The guests included the members of the "Glee" Orchestra, Mrs. Kendall, Mrs. Addison Parsons and son Leon, and Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Goding, and Miss Louise Staples.

The Glee Orchestra was organized largely through the efforts of Mr. Kendall, who acted as pianist and director. The other members are Miss Marie Bartlett, violin; Eva Carrier, cornet; Roland Morton, trombone; Earl Hamilton, cornet; Charles Atwood drums. The musical organization of young people through musical practice has become very efficient. In their rendering of orchestral music and is an organization in which the citizens of the town feel a just pride. Mr. Kendall has also been prominent in other musical organizations, serving as accompanist for the Rumford Choral Union, acting as organist for the evening service at the Methodist church and handling the pipe organ with marked ability. He is also a member of the Rumford Band and thus it is easy to see how greatly he will be missed in the musical organizations. He will also be missed by his personal friends of which he has a large circle.

During the evening the Misses Bartlett served refreshments of ice cream, fancy cakes, punch and confectionery. The boy members of the orchestra presented Mr. Kendall with a set of cuff links and Miss Marie, the young lady member of the orchestra, gave him a scarf pin that matched the links. Mr. Kendall received the gifts with deep appreciation. The evening passed very pleasantly with music by the orchestra and a general social time; Miss Staples also sang several selections.

Lion Fondles A Child. In Pittsburgh a savage lion fondled the hand that a child thrust into his cage. Danger to the child is sometimes great when least regarded. Often it comes through colds, croup, and whooping cough. They slay thousands that Dr. King's New Discovery could have saved. "A few doses cured our baby of a very bad case of croup," writes Mrs. George H. Davis, of Flat Rock, N. C. "We always give it to him when he takes cold, it is a wonderful medicine for babies." BLUE STORES

WE SPECIALIZE IN ADLER'S COLLEGIAN CLOTHES

It is possible that you can get a suit or an overcoat made with just as good cloth as is used for COLLEGIAN FASHIONS, and maybe that garment will wear just as long; we know, however, that you can't possibly procure clothes with any other label, which possess the SAME AMOUNT OF STYLE AND CHARACTER. The good dresser is the man who wants more than a suit which will last a long time, HE DEMANDS QUALITY, but he is critical about the styles.

We want to show you the new fashions in Adler's Collegian Clothes and you will see a combination OF BOTH of these important factors, which you will certainly appreciate. The Spring styles are SPLENDID EXAMPLES of good tailoring.

Unlike most dramas there are no minor parts in the play but each character has a marked individuality. The entire cast were perfectly adapted to the parts taken and the stage management under the direction of Nelson J. Mixer, was above criticism. WHAT HAVE YOU DONE?

You are going to do great things, you

say—

But what have you done?

You are going to win in a splendid way,

As others have won;

You have plans that when they are put in force

Will make you sublime;

You have mapped out a glorious upward course.

But why don't you climb?

You're not quite ready to start, you say!

If you hope to win,

The time to be starting is now—to-day

Don't dally, begin!

No man has ever been ready as yet,

For a great deed will be;

You may call it you reach where your hopes are set—

But try it and see.

You are going to do great things, you

say.

Your dreams are of heights that are far away;

—They're a hopeful man's—

But the world when it judges the case for you.

At the end, my son,

Will think not of what you were going to do,

But what you've done.

—S. E. Kiser.

We let lots of good things get away from us every day, because our eyes are fixed on the days to come. We are always thinking of the better time that is coming by-and-by, and fail to take advantage of the things around us which we can turn to good account. From the dark, cold days of life, as well as from the bright, balmy ones, one may get much of value. The incoming tide brings with it things of value. And the outgoing tide leaves beautiful things.
He who takes only the things that come in with the flood, loses the things left by the ebb-tide.

ONE STEP AT A TIME.
Do not try to cover the entire journey with one step—you cannot do it, and you may get a tumble for your pains. It is hard at first, when one thinks of all the weary steps ahead of him. And he finds that the effort to take all those steps, mentally, before he reaches the place where they must be taken, is far more tiring than the step actually before him. Take one step at a time.

And then it is annoying when we think that we cannot see the end of the journey—cannot see far ahead on the road, as it winds in and out among the hills. If we only knew more about the destination, or even about the things lying a little ahead of us on the road, but no one who has gone ahead will retrace his steps in order to inform us, and those whom we overtake, of course, have been no farther along than we have. And so, we don't know very much about the trip after all. But somehow, we know that there must be a destination, else the road would not be there. No road ever existed but what led to somewhere, as otherwise there would have been no reason for its existence. And all we can do is to walk on and on, in trust and confidence that those who built the road knew the business and have provided stages for rest, and a final rest at the end of the journey.

If we think too much of what is on the road far beyond, we will miss the beauties of that part of the road over which we are passing—will fail to note things which will be of use to us later on. At every point of the journey there are interesting things—things from which we may obtain instruction and benefit—let us not pass them by unheeded, in our hurry about the miles beyond us. Let us instead, take one step at a time, taking it boldly and fearlessly, and believing confidently that the road just ahead the end will afford us solid footing when we reach it. It is these bends in the road and what lies around them, that makes the walking so hard—that makes us feel weary and tired—that makes us feel like lying down by the roadside to despair and die.

In this journey of life, let us take the step that lies just ahead of us, knowing that it is as useful a step as even the last will be, for without it the last could never be taken. Let us not murmur at our slow progress, but look ahead and we will see something that will brighten us, so matter how insignificant may be the particular stage of the journey. Let us enjoy every bit of the road, for we will never see just the same bit again. Let us get all that is going, and the only way to do it is to make the best of every step.
One step at a time—and only one step at a time. For the sake of the step itself. For the sake of the step for a while, and step out boldly with a light heart.—E.

DOCTOR ADVISED OPERATION

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Gulena, Kans.—"A year ago last March I fell, and a few days after there was soreness in my right side.
In a short time a bunch came and it bothered me so much at night I could not sleep. It kept growing larger and by fall it was as large as a hen's egg.
I could not go to bed without a hot water bottle applied to that side. I had one of the best doctors in Kansas and he told my husband that I would have to be operated on as it was something like a tumor caused by a rupture. I wrote to you for advice and you told me not to get discouraged but to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
I did take it and soon the lump in my side broke and passed away." Mrs.
R. H. Huxey, 713 Mineral Ave., Galena, Kans.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has proved to be the most successful remedy for curing the worst forms of female ill, including displacements, inflammation, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, beating-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result has been worth millions to many suffering women.

If you want special advice write for it to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.
It is free and always helpful.

At the top edge of the deep cut through which the water passes, that twirls the stones in the house, at the time of my visit, was an immense boulder standing like an egg on the small end. To look down into the deepchasm, with almost perpendicular sides, then lined with a growth of small trees, required steadiness of thought. Evi-attempts had been made to dislodge the mammoth stone but all efforts had failed, leaving the crowning effort to the party of which I was one, to overthrow which the women played im-weight of person would allow. At last down, down I fell, crashing as it went, the stone reminding us of the bursting

CORPORATION MEETING.

At the meeting of the Bethel village corporation held at the corporation building last Monday evening the two articles left over from the regular March meeting were acted upon as follows:

Article 21 related to the establishing of an automatic fire alarm system. The corporation having been asked to consider the same, reported that a system with three bells and a reliable alarm whistle would cost about $725.00.

It was voted to instruct the assessors to install such a system and $400, now in the treasury was appropriated for the same.

We have since learned that an error was made in the estimate and the system cannot be installed for the amount named. Nothing will be done, therefore, until further action is taken by the corporation.

Article 22 related to a contract with the Bethel Water Company. The assessors having investigated other systems as to prices charged for hydrant service etc., recommended that a contract should be made between the corporation and the Water Company which provides in substance that the corporation pay a flat rate of $25.00 per hydrant for all hydrant service also that the Water Company furnish water for the fountains and for street sprinkling and that the valuation of the company's property for taxation remain as first fixed, namely at $5000.

This report called forth some discussion, some believing that the corporation should not tie itself up for another 20 years on terms which would appear favorable to the Water Company.

The vote was finally taken resulting in the accepting of the assessors report. This was disputed, the house was called and the report finally accepted in a vote of 22 to 20.

CATARRH DESTROYED MY APPETITE.

PERUNA rarely fails to restore the appetite. Immediately upon beginning the use of Peruna patients begin to eat and digest. This is the universal testimony, coming from all parts of the civilized world. Catarrh is a very frequent cause of loss of appetite and disturbed digestion. The beneficial influence of Peruna on catarrh completely restores the appetite in such cases. To prod the digestive organs with medicines that are merely stimulants is a poor way to remedy such cases.

"I am now cured and cheerful in spirits, all through the agency of Peruna, which has cured me effectively and restored my appetite. My only regret is that I did not use Peruna sooner and I would have avoided all my previous suffering and misery." —Mr. Joseph H. Conlan.

Removed Catarrh, Restored Appetite. Mr. Joseph H. Conlan, 187 7th Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: "I suffered from catarrh which completely destroyed my appetite and weakened my entire system. I am now cured and cheerful in spirits, all through the agency of Peruna, which has cured me effectively and restored my appetite. My only regret is that I did not use Peruna sooner and I would have avoided all my previous suffering and misery."

Torpid Liver, Stomach Trouble. Mr. James O'Byrne, 623 Madison St., Topeka, Kas., conductor Santa Fe Railway and member Order of Railway Conductors, writes: "I suffered with a torpid liver and stomach trouble, which made my complexion very sallow, and I felt intolerable and tired all the time. An aunt wrote me that she was taking Peruna with such good results that she advised me to try it, and I finally bought a bottle, although I disliked to take patent medicines. However, I found Peruna very agreeable to take, and effective, as I felt better in a week. I took only five bottles in all and I found that was all I needed. I am most grateful to you for what your medicine has done for me." DYSPEPSIA Entirely Relieved.

Mr. W. N. Casey, Leamington, Ill., writes: "In two weeks after beginning your treatment I was well. I had him cured."

PERUNA as a Tonic. Capt. R. B. Smith, Greensboro, Ga., writes: "After using several bottles of Peruna I can recommend it as one of the best catarrh medicines on the market. As a tonic it has no equal."

Catarrh of Stomach. Mr. Henry Neely, First Lieutenant, Co. "H," 8th Regiment, O. V. I., Box 623, Trenton, Mo., writes: "I suffered for years with catarrh of the stomach. Seeing an advertisement of Peruna, I bought a bottle and every dose made me feel better. Seven bottles completely cured me."
